

Not every meeting space has four walls. Turn your open areas into productive meeting areas with these collaboration spaces: three walls or less and flexible enough to accommodate classroom-style groups or a standing group that is attentive to the content on a large, interactive digital board.

Your new collaboration spaces inspire and inform your staff through collaborative stand-up meetings and briefings. With Interactive collaboration displays like the Cisco Webex Board, you connect local and remote teams as they wirelessly present and share content for real-time input and annotation from select participants. These collaboration spaces foster a culture that supports working together as a team and relying on each member's insight and experience.
